Line one is shown by the first content stream
and the second line too, in the same text object;
the third line starts in stream two.